Conflict Minerals Declaration

TRL Krosaki Refractories Limited ("TRL Krosaki") is committed to ethical and responsible sourcing, sustainable supply-chain practices and respect for human rights. We seek to avoid using minerals whose extraction, trade, processing, or export directly or indirectly contributes to armed conflict or serious human-rights abuse.

For this declaration, conflict minerals refer to tin, tantalum, tungsten and gold (collectively, "3TG"), including the relevant ores and derivatives commonly covered by international conflict-minerals due-diligence frameworks.

TRL Krosaki do not source 3TG (Tin, Titanium, Tantalum, Gold) directly from mines, smelters or refiners for the purpose of financing or benefiting armed groups in conflict-affected and high-risk areas. Our supply chain primarily comprises suppliers of refractory raw materials, processed minerals, chemicals, components, equipment and services.

Where 3TG is present, or may reasonably be present, in materials, components or equipment purchased by TRL Krosaki, we expect relevant suppliers to provide appropriate information on mineral origin and chain of custody and to undertake risk-based due diligence. Where applicable, suppliers may be requested to provide a current Responsible Minerals Initiative (RMI) Conflict Minerals Reporting Template (CMRT), smelter/refinery information, or equivalent supporting evidence.

Our responsible-sourcing approach is guided by the OECD (Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development) due diligence guidance for responsible supply chains of minerals from conflict-affected and high-risk areas and takes account of relevant customer and market requirements, including Regulation (EU) 2017/821 and U.S. conflict-minerals disclosure requirements under Section 1502 of the Dodd-Frank Act and SEC Rule 13p-1, wherever applicable.

Based on information made available to TRL Krosaki through supplier declarations and reasonable supply-chain review, and subject to the completeness and accuracy of information provided by suppliers, TRL Krosaki has no reason to believe that 3TG contained in its products is knowingly sourced in a manner that directly or indirectly finances or benefits armed groups in conflict-affected and high-risk areas. If a material sourcing risk is identified, TRL Krosaki will engage the relevant supplier to obtain clarification and determine appropriate corrective actions.

This declaration supports general customer compliance and reflects information available on its issue date. Product-specific confirmation or a customer-requested CMRT, where applicable, may be subject to a separate review.
